63 Heroes Head to the Beach

Remember last year's 2002 Heroes Celebrity Baseball Game? The star-packed event raised money for both Gilda's Club and Jonathan's Place. The featured auction item, provided by Woodall Foundation Advisory Board member, Mark Cuban, was a trip for 63 to Las Vegas on the Mavericks' team plane. How could Heroes top that trip?

2003 Heroes Baseball Training Camp Trip - Destination Unknown

Head Coach Charlie McKinney of Goldman Sachs, with the help of Martin Woodall, organized a surprise destination trip to an exotic tropical locale.

Baseball players and guests were told to pack for warm tropical climate and bring their passport.

The trip for 63 sold out immediately with the destination remaining a mystery until airborne.

After a 5 hour champagne breakfast flight, guests were treated to a three day stay at the Nevis Island Four Seasons Resort off the Island of St. Kitts, West Indies.

Proceeds from this event benefit Gilda's Club and Jonathan's Place via the Mike Modano Foundation. We look forward to the next Heroes event which always keeps Woodall Foundation beneficiaries in mind.

Supporter Spotlight - Mark Miranda

Kosher Cook-off

Since October of 2002, Mark Miranda with Miranda Realty has supported the Woodall Foundation in our ongoing challenge of meeting the ever changing needs of children who are affected by HIV.

When Mr. Miranda was first introduced to Woodall Foundation for support, he responded immediately with an offer to host a spring fundraiser at his home with proceeds benefiting Woodall Foundation and its beneficiaries.

The Woodall Foundation greatly appreciate Mark Miranda's contribution of time and energy to the Woodall Foundation and wish Mr. Miranda continued success.

The Woodall Foundation is proud to announce its participation in the 10th Annual Kosher Chili Cook-off. Woodall Foundation has secured 4 floor seats to the final 2002-2003 Maverick's game prior to the playoffs. The tickets will be auctioned off at the April 6th event. Proceeds raised from the Cook-off benefit local charities. more info at www.Tiferetdallas.org
