

Woodall Foundation Sponsors Autistic Community from TK Ranch

As part of its ongoing mission, the Woodall Foundation recently sponsored the residence of TK Ranch to a night of NBA hoops action as the Dallas Mavericks hosted the Los Angeles Clippers at the American Airlines Center in Dallas, Texas.

The TK Ranch is a fully functioning community that assists the needs of autistic individuals by providing them with treatment, education and opportunity through a structured living environment. In addition to the therapy and training received at the ranch, each resident has certain responsibilities that are crucial to the daily operations of the community.

To reward them for all their hard work, the Woodall Foundation provided the TK Ranch with over 40 tickets to the Mavericks' game and catered dinner for everyone in attendance. Many of the ranchers had never been to a Mavericks game before and were treated to a truly amazing contest. The Mavericks trailed much of the game but were able to rally in the 4th quarter, thanks in part to a great performance by JJ Barea, and defeat the Clippers by a score of 100-98.

Woodall Foundation 2008 Immunization Outreach Report

The success of the Care Van sponsored by the Woodall Foundation and the Dallas Mavericks Foundation has continued throughout 2008. By visiting neighborhood schools, churches, parks and community events, the Caring for Children Foundation was able to provide direct access to medical screenings and immunizations for underserved children and their families. In total, 50,354 Texas children were provided with 92,034 immunizations. For more information on the Care Van program or to schedule a Care Van appearance, please visit www.bcbstx.com/carevan.

Turkey Tunes benefits Woodall Foundation

This year the Woodall Foundation was the proud beneficiary of Turkey Tunes 2008. The annual concert featuring local musicians was held on Sunday, November 30 at Memphis Restaurant and Club in Addison, Texas. The day long acoustical show consisted of ten different bands performing a mix of original recordings and popular cover songs. In addition to the live music, those in attendance were able to bid on several silent auction items donated by local retailers and merchants. The Woodall Foundation would like to thank Mark Heymann and the other volunteers for their hard work and helping us "build a brighter future for kids".

The Butterflies Are Coming

The Texas Discovery Gardens is pleased to announce the Grand Opening of the Rosine Smith Sammons Butterfly House coming on September 12, 2009. Construction of the new exhibit is on schedule, and much of the structure is already in place. A generous grant from the Woodall Foundation in 2004 helped make this project possible, and therefore the Grand Staircase leading to the upper levels of the Conservatory will be named in our honor. Soon, school children will gain hands on experience about the secret lives of bugs, butterflies and botany in the newly-furbished Earth Keepers Classroom.
