

Woodall Foundation Launches "New Look" Website

After ten years of having the same website, the Woodall Foundation was in desperate need of an update. Jeff Livney of Liveny Partners generously donated a portion of the programming expense and designed a new interactive website that instantly propelled the Woodall Foundation into the modern age of the Internet. With a fun new look and easy to navigate features, woodallfoundation.com updates our supporters on the latest news and events involving our beneficiaries. Log on today, and check out the changes. While you're there, don't forget to visit the "Donate" page, and help in "building a brighter future for kids".
